The Cold and Another

Bartender Performed Last Rites.

For the second time George De Sonchet, bartender, preached a funeral sermon over the grave of a fellow-member of his craft yesterday afternoon. William Whittick, late business agent of the Bartenders' Union, died, and the funeral was held at Cave Hill yesterday afternoon. The pallbearers were members of this union, and many of the mourners were bartenders. A few weeks ago Whittick read an account of De Sonchet officiating at a funeral, and had jokingly remarked that he wanted De Sonchet to repeat the service when he died. He little dreamed death was so near. His request was repeated to De Sonchet, who readily consented to perform the service. De Sonchet is manager of the clubhouse at Churchill Downs. Hardly an eye was dry when the sermon was finished. The Louisville Federation of Labor took part in the exercises. Mr. De Sonchet said: "That bartender, who warm and his heart is evidenced by this gathering. Once again we are assembled in this beautiful city of the dead to do homage to the memory and seek a kindly word over the remains of a departed brother. It was my duty a number of years ago to perform a like service over the remains of Brother John Peterson, and upon this occasion I am glad to say that I would indeed feel remiss in my duty to a friend and brother did I fail to voice that sentiment which should permeate the bosom of us all—brotherly love. Standing here today we should all realize how short life is, and should so shape our lives that when our time comes to face the great Creator we can do so without fear, as Brother Whittick has done. His religion was the golden rule. "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you," and he practiced what he preached, always standing firm as the rock of Gibraltar for the right; and discountenancing anything that was wrong. You who knew him intimately can attest his sterling worth. I once heard a great man say, when I was but a boy that every man could, if he would, elevate his profession, no matter how humble his calling. Will Whittick was such a man. Let us try to follow in his steps, always standing up for the right, thinking less of self and more for one another. Let us be brothers in deed. I feel today that the soul of our departed brother has flown to the bosom of his Creator. Farewell, Brother Billy, a last and farewell. Peace to thy ashes. And now may the great and good God be with us in this sad hour of affliction and bring peace to the hearts of sorrowing friends and relatives. "As we go forth from this sacred place to mingle again with the selfish and unsympathetic world, go with us, we pray Thee. Protect us and our work from evil hands and finally at life's close take us into the circle of Thy great love. Amen."

The Richest Man in the World.

The richest man in the world cannot have his kidneys replaced nor live without them. So it is important not to neglect these organs. If Foley's Kidney Cure is taken at the first sign of danger, the symptoms will disappear and your health will be restored, as it strengthens and builds up these organs as nothing else will. Oscar Rowman, Lebanon, Ky., writes: "I have used Foley's Kidney Cure and have great pleasure in stating it cured me permanently of kidney disease, which certainly would have cost me my life."

Lives Little Things.

A wild bird's song is a little thing—lost in the depths of a summer sky.

And yet when it falls on a listening ear, and leaves its message of melody, earth's green grows brighter and life seems lighter, and summer indeed is real.

A budding rose is a little thing—lost in the gold of a summer's sun.

And yet wherever it bursts in bloom, love scatters afar its fragrance sweet, love grows dearer and heaven nearer, and its petals fall too soon.

A passing smile is a little thing—lost in a world of toil and care.

And yet the soul with gloom oppressed and the life grown weary with burdens hard will happier grow in the afterglow of a smile that is warmly kind.

Remember that.

Postmaster Robbed.

G. W. Eouts, Postmaster at River-ton, Ia., nearly lost his life and was robbed of all comfort, according to his letter, which says: "For 20 years I had chronic liver complaint, which led to such a severe case of jaundice that even my finger nails turned yellow, when my doctor prescribed Electric Bitters, which cured me and have kept me well for eleven years."

Sure cure for Biliousness, Neuralgia, Weakness and all Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bladder derangements. A wonderful Tonic. At Stockton Hagan Drug Store. 50 cents.

The Truth.

Our progressive druggists, Perry & Thomas in speaking of the so-called cures for the many diseases of humanity, has occasion to speak of "Zemo," a positive cure for Eczema and all skin diseases.

The manufacturer of "Zemo," Mr. E. W. Rose, of Harrisburg Ill., gave six hard years study toward the perfecting of "Zemo." Many persons in Saline County, of which Harrisburg is the county seat, were invited to use Mr. Rose's remedy and in a number of cases of from 12 to 15 years standing, a complete cure was the result. Messrs Perry & Thomas state that after being shown positive proof that "Zemo" will and does cure the most severe and long standing cases that he was glad to offer to his patrons the only remedy that he believes will absolutely give a permanent cure. In a few days "Zemo" will be received and displayed in our windows some photographs of some of the cures made. Mr. Rose has written a strong booklet on the treatment of Eczema and skin diseases and we will take pleasure in giving a copy to those who call. It is our desire to have every sufferer from chronic, long standing cases of Eczema and skin diseases call and see us, when on the authority of Mr. Rose, we will give them a legal guarantee that "Zemo" will cure any case of skin or scalp disease, no matter from what cause or for how long standing. "Zemo" is a fine clean liquid for external use and during treatment there is no cause for loss of time from business. Mr. Rose is so much in earnest and is so honest in his statements he says he does not want a dollar of the people's money when a cure is not effected.

Do Not Be Imposed Upon.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered as the same preparation will give the same satisfaction. It is mildly laxative. It contains opiates and is safest for children and delicate persons.

Faithful Dog is Dying.

Curled up on a pile of burlap sacks in the wharfboat of the Pittsburg and Cincinnati Packet Company, Queen, a white bulldog is dying of a broken heart.

The dog is the property of Captain Sweeney, of the Queen City, which cleared Pittsburg for Cincinnati Tuesday evening. For years Queen has been the constant companion of the Captain. She has never missed a trip until this one. Even a dog has domestic tendencies, and Queen decided that she would look over the town on Tuesday while the boat was lying here. When the hour for departure came Queen was not around and the boat left her behind. When the dog returned to the wharfboat she stood in the open doorway and gazed out across the river. Then she slunk away into her corner, where she refuses to eat or drink. Yesterday she heard the Greenland whistle for the landing and jumping up, ran out and waited until the boat had tied up, when she boarded her. Discovering her mistake, she sneaked back to her burlap sacks. Captain Sweeney missed the dog and telegraphed for her. The telegram was answered and if Queen did not return Tuesday she would survive, as her master will be here then.

A Mountain of Gold

could not bring as much happiness to Mrs. Lucia Wilker, of Carolina, Wis., as did one 25c box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, when it completely cured a running sore on her leg, which had tortured her 23 long years. Greatest antiseptic healer of Piles, Wounds and Sores. 25c at Stockton and Hagan's drug store.

Pigeons Race With Train.

The passengers on the mail train from Morehead City due here in the morning are greatly interested in the peculiar conduct of a pigeon, which is owned by a man in Wildwood and engages the train in a race from Wildwood to Havelock every morning, a distance of 15 miles. The bird apparently watches for the approach of the train and flies along with it, sometimes ahead of it, but it never fails to accompany the train. It flies so near the cars that passengers can almost touch it. When the train stops at Newport the bird perches near by and waits for it to start, when it continues its journey to Havelock, then returns to its home, evidently with the impression on its little brain that it has discharged some duty. The pigeon is handsome, being white with a black head. No other bird seems to take this freak, nor does this one attach itself to any other train and the wonder grows how the bird appears to prefer this train to any other. It will be little missed when for any reason it discontinues its regular flights.

The Potato Worm.

The most serious pest in California, is the potato worm. The damage to the potato crop in California, as estimated by the writer on a basis of opinions obtained from a large number of growers and dealers, aggregates in some years fully 25 per cent. In one section where some of the finest potatoes are grown, the Salinas valley, the dealers estimate that at times the loss has gone as high as 40,000 sacks in a single year, and indeed, the potatoes from many sections of the state have to be warehoused carefully by the dealers to avoid wormy jobs. The need of care is because of the fact that a very few wormy potatoes may infect in a few weeks a whole storehouse full of what were originally clean tubers. As the potato is a food product that is expected to retain its value for many months this possibility of infestation becomes a most serious question.

Fortunate Missourians.

"When I was a druggist, at Illinois Mo.," writes T. J. Dwyer, now of Grayville, Mo., "three of my customers were permanently cured of consumption by Dr. King's New Discovery, and strong to day. One was trying to sell his property and move to Arizona, but after using New Discovery a short time he found it unnecessary to do so. I regard Dr. King's New Discovery as the most wonderful medicine in existence." Suresst Cough and Cold cure and Throat and Lung healer. Guaranteed by Stockton and Hagan, Druggists, 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

Facts About Stamp.

A specialist who collected the stamps of France and her colonies recently sold his collection for $11,300.

It takes a stamp collector to tell where are the stamps of Argentina, China, Diego Suarez, Hamar-Yea, Wadwan, Gollid, Jibao, Ujung Paridkot, Nabba and Obok.

It requires more than 40 large albums to house the collection of United States stamps owned by the earl of Crawford. This collection of United States stamps is thought to be the most complete in existence.

The credit of originating adhesive stamps is generally given to James Chalmers, of Dundee, Scotland. He first advocated them in 1837, and in accordance with a legislative enactment of December 21, 1839, they were issued for public use in England May 6, 1840.

Notice to Public.

The public is hereby notified that my land in and around Kirkville, Ky., is posted and that trespassing is strictly forbidden. Any violation of this notice will be prosecuted according to law. Mrs. Alice Harris, Kirkville, Ky.

Garrard Physicians on the Right Side.

The physicians of Lancaster have decided not to write prescriptions for whiskey in the future, the tidal wave of reform having struck the capital of Garrard with telling force, and the "lid is on." The following card has been issued by the doctors: "It has been reported that the physicians of Lancaster have solicited the taking out of whiskey license by the druggists. We, the undersigned, emphatically deny that we have asked any one to take out license, and further pledge ourselves to write no whiskey prescriptions under any circumstances whatever. J. A. Amos, M. D., W. R. Bennett, M. D., J. B. Kinnaird, M. D., J. G. Bailey, M. D., J. M. Acton, M. D."

Under Her Chin.

Nothing could be more charming than the revival of the crisp little bow of white cambric or tulle under the chin. This is a fresh, dainty mode of neck dressing and looks particularly well with the spring tailored suit. The tie when of cambric or lawn, are long enough to go twice around the neck and tie. They must, of course, be immaculately crisp and fresh when their charm is lost. The dainty, ethereal wisp of tulle such as girls wear a year or more ago, has again been adopted by those who find it becoming.

A Hint To His Wife.

If women would avoid bargain counter when purchasing for men, says The Haberdasher, they would more often suit the recipient. I am not sure recipient is the correct word, since, in most cases his great wife's bill, wears the tie and grumbles audibly or in suppressed diadems. Better one scarf that is just right than "three for the price" that are left over as unsaleable or thrown out because the style that they stood for is dead.

How's This For an Answer?

It is really amusing to note the unlimited questions that fall from the lips of children. Equally so some of the answers they give to certain questions. Recently, during an examination at Caldwell, High School, one question in a lower grade was "What are the three linings of the stomach?" A little fellow wrote as an answer: "Motor, cuspid and bi-cuspid." Yes, verily, a stomach with such linings would be a case of chewing the food after it is swallowed.

What Next?

Last week Jim Allen, of the Cyn thiana Democrat, printed a story of a farmer who caught a wild cat with a troutline instead of fish. Perry says that there are always thirteen rains a litter, and now comes a Bath county whose mare foaled four colts last week. It that Owensville liar had not moved away, we would doubt the latter statement.—Winchester Democrat.

You can fatten a deer, sweet sister, to a saint on an amount of religious angel food that wouldn't suffice to keep a full grown man from yawning.

Killed While Staging.

A party of young people, comprising two men and two women were recent ly returning from a day in the country to their homes in Omaha. At a railroad crossing their carriage was struck by a train and one of the young women was killed, while the other members of the party were severely injured. The Omaha World-Herald says that at the inquest one of the survivors said: "We were returning to the city as jolly a set of young folks as you ever saw and, as we were driving along Miss proposed singing 'Hello, Central, Give Me Heaven,' and started singing. None of the rest of us joined her. So she finished the song alone and had just finished the words 'Hello, Central, Give me Heaven,' when the engine struck us and she was killed."

Meeting of Extremes.

The Irishman evidently had been drinking a little. He stumbled into one of the two booth chairs in front of the Tribune Building, and after setting himself comfortably, glanced at his next chair neighbor. Then he laughed.

His neighbor, who was a fat, pompous negro, about 50 years old, dressed in clerical garb, frowned.

"Well, Sankey," said the Irishman ignoring the negro's look of disapproval "this surely is a queer conference. Here I am and there you are. It's not so long since I was a bog trotter, and I suppose you were a slave. And here we have two dogs descendants of Julius Caesar shining our brows."—New York Press.

$10 Reward.

I will pay ten dollars reward for the return of information leading to recovery of two gold rings which disappeared from my place two weeks ago. One is a red and the other a black setter. D. B. SHACKELFORD, Richmond, Ky.

How He Did It.

The crop of tobacco sold recently by Col. Jack Chinn, which averaged $15.85 has attracted much attention. Here is how he says it was raised: "After the tobacco was topped and the suckers were two or three inches long, all the suckers were carefully removed except the one next to the top. This was allowed to grow till just before cutting, when it also was removed. When cut, the leaf was exceedingly tender, and he did not allow the sun to strike it. It was cut at or after sundown and at once removed to shelter." Col. Chinn says this method is what produced his fine crop of cigarette tobacco.

Never Judge a Man by his looks; lots of fools look otherwise.

It is just as easy to be nice and clever as it is to be selfish and mean.
